The Need

The need for Premiere Game Tables was two-fold.

As an online-only business they understood that people need to see what they're buying. The site always offered shoppers an extensive photo gallery of each product, but there was no denying the added dimensions of video would further enhance product display, serving as an effective tool to help customers make a purchasing decision.

In addition, as online marketing experts, Premiere Game Tables' managers were well aware of the ever-increasing value of video in terms of SEO.

With the addition of Treepodia's automated videos Premiere Game Tables has seen a dramatic increase in conversion rates, going from 1.2% to 4% when the product video has been viewed.

The Solution

Treepodia Ecommerce Video Platform and Dynamic Video Sitemap

After coming across Treepodia on another ecommerce site and comparing it to other video solutions on the market, Kirk Mathews, President of Premiere Game Tables, decided that this was the right video solution for his company's needs.

"The turn-key aspect of creating high-quality videos for our entire product catalog so quickly, with existing images and content was particularly attractive," commented Mathews. "Also their ability to host data and continually update the videos was a major selling point."

With those factors in mind, in August 2010, Premiere Game Tables implemented both the Treepodia smart video platform and soon after the Dynamic Video Sitemap, covering their entire product catalog of over 1,400 products.

The Results

With the addition of Treepodia's automated videos Premiere Game Tables has seen a dramatic increase in conversion rates, going from 1.2% to 4% when the product video has been viewed.

Besides more than tripling their conversion rates with the ecommerce video platform, the addition of the Dynamic Video Sitemap has proven extremely effective in driving more SEO traffic to the site.

According to Mathews, "As soon as the XML video sitemap was created, Google was already indexing our videos. With almost every long-tail product-specific search term being indexed by Google, we're now showing up on the first page with our highest converting search terms."

With these results, Premiere Game Tables is looking to add the Treepodia solution to their other Premiere branded websites Premiere Mobility Scooters and Premiere Adirondack Chairs.

In Mathew's words, "Treepodia has met all of our expectations. It's a good service, intriguing and effective. I'd recommend it."
